Mr. Hoover, off on the most elaborate preinaugural vacation ever undertaken by a President-elect, is probably the first private citizen who ever received a salute of 21 guns and was formally recognized by the Navy as the commander in chief before taking the oath of office.

Pratt, commander in chief of the United States Battle Fleet. They were carried 2 miles across the harbor to the waiting Maryland, under escorts of Navy launches filled with cheering officers in

For a moment the party paused and stood at attention while the Navail band saluted Hoover; then they stepped into the launch and slipped silently out into the bay. Mrs. Hoover, their son, Allan, and various other members of the party followed closely after. There was some delay about getting under way. Delayed baggage held the ship at anchor for more than an hour after the Maryland had been boarded by the President-elect, but shortly before noon the last trunk had been stored away. The last launch turned back shoreward and the Maryland began her long voyage.

The President-elect reached San Pedro at 9:40 o'clock this morning after an overnight Journey from his home at Stanford University. Only two scheduled stops were made on the trip down the California mainiand, one at Glendale on the outskirts of Los Angeles, where it was boarded by a group of friends of Hoover. Another hait was made at Wilmington, near San Pedro, so that the school children and citizens of that place might catch a glimpse of their next President.

Hoover spent much of the time on the trip from his home at Palo Alto to the port of embarkation in replying to various urgent letters and telegrams that demanded his attention before he sailed. These cleared away, he retired late, but was up at his usual hour and appeared on the rear platform at Wilmington.

Several members of his personal staff accompanied the party aboard the Maryland to say good-by to their chief whom they will meet in Florida after his return from South America.

She is Mrs. Ruth Keyes, pretty, about 24, with the sort of hair Rothstein said the "liked to run his fingers through"—the sort that crowns the beauty of his paramour, Inez Norton—and she was located at the home of her husband, a brakeman, at 1412 East Sixtysixth place, Chicago. Rare it is for the police to be granted a second guess by the underworld, but in the case of Mrs. Keyes, who is due in New York tomorrow for questioning at headquarters, they are confident they are getting what is known as a break. For Mrs. Keyes, it was learned today, was questioned by Detective Joseph Daley, of the homicide squad in her room—330—at the Park Central Hotel less than three hours after Rothstein was shot in room 349, only a few doors away, on the night of November 4.

At that time she told Daley, according to the police, that she had flirted in the hotel hallway with a man known to her only as Jack—that she went to his room, 349, where there was a second man, and that they drank together. That was on the afternoon of November 4—the drinking party—and it ended, she told Daley, at about 6 o'clock, when she went to Small's Paradise, a Harlem cabaret.

She was told to say nothing to any one else and to "beat it." And so early next morning, as soon as the hotel safe was opened, she got such valuables

Tells of Launching Boats.

Welland, the third officer, a shy, red-cheeked youngster, spoke in a voice that was almost inaudible. Again and again the attorners asked him to speak louder. Finally most of what he said had to be read after him by the stenographer.

Welland said that as third officer he was responsible for the lifeboats, and that he actually supervised the launching of them on the starboard side-where the decks were awash—while the captain and first officer supervised the loading of the boats on the port side which was up out of the water. It was in the boats on the port side that most of the women and children were lost. There were four boat welland, and three of them were launched, the said had been in the water about an hour. RUSSIAN RELATIONS TO ENGAGE HOOVER

Recognition to Be Problem When Congress Considers Kellogg Peace Pact.

SOVIET PARTY TO TREATY

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Developments are shaping up to in-Developments are shaping up to inject the question of Russian recognition into the Hoover administration at an early date and there seems to be a hopeful air among proponents that the recognition will be given.

Although the belief has been expressed in some quarters that the Kellogg peace pact can not be ratified at the forthcoming short session, no opposition to it has been heard and there would seem to be no reason why it should not; but whether it comes up in the short session or at a subsequent would seem to be no reason why it should not; but whether it comes up in the short session or at a subsequent extra session called by Mr. Hoover, the situation will develop that will require an ascertainment of his views.

This arises from the fact that Russia is a party to the treaty and already the question has been raised as to whether ratification by this country does not entail recognition of Russia as soon as the treaty becomes effective. There have been some suggestions that there should be a reservation precluding this interpretation, but thus far there have been no indications that a serious effort will be made to this end.

Recognition to Be Claimed.

On the other hand, it is known that the proponents of recognition plan to contend that this recognition has been given when the treaty is ratified, to be followed by pressure for the resumption of open trade relations.

The resolution, submitted by Mrs. Lenna Lowe Yost, national director of legislative work for the W. C. T. U. said Mrs. Willebrandt's "sincerity of purpose, legal perception, tireless application to duty and efficiency, evidenced in the administration of prohibition and other laws, commands greatest respect."

All declared that the body of the young woman was found in bed, fully clothed. With a pillow over her face. The pillow was removed, the witnesses said, to permit a physician to examine the body. William F. Smith, 13-year-old son of the defendant, testified about the argument between his sister and father on the morning of the murder. He declared his father began the argument over preparation of his breakfast. The boy said that when he left the apartment his sister was seated at the piano, playing, while her father continued the quarrel.

Picture Is Admitted.

A picture of the dead girl, lying as ahe was discovered, with the exception that the pillow had been removed from her face, was shown to the jury. The picture was taken by Sergt. Fred Sandberg, fingerprint and photographic expert of the Police Department. The defense sought to have the picture excluded from evidence on the ground that it did not fully depict the discovery of the body because the pillow had been removed from the face, but the Court allowed the photograph to be admitted in evidence.

Detective Sergts. Joseph Waldron and John Plaherty, who witnessed Smith's confession, testified that the statement was taken the morning after the murder and after the defendant had been advised his statements would be used against him in court. The defense fought hard but vainly to have the confession excluded on the ground it was involutary.

DEATH OF OLDFIELD TANGLES ELECTION

Two Visits to Polls May Be Necessary to Choose His Successor.

PRECEDENT IS LACKING

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 19 (A.P.) .- A situation without precedent in Arkansas confronted State officials tonight in filling the vacancy created by the death of Representative W. A. Oldfield, of the second district, in Washington

Oldfield, the Democratic "whip" in he House in which he had served 20 ears, was reelected November 6, for years, was reelected November 6, for chis eleventh consecutive term.

A special election will be necessary to fill the vacancy, but officials, including Gov. Harvey Parnell, were uncertain as to whether one or more elections would have to be called.

Oldfield's present term does not exepire until next March, at which time his new term would begin. State officials now have to decide whether an election will have to be called to fill the present term only, or whether both the vacancy for the remainder of this term and also the new term may be filled at one election.

It also was not clear whether a nominee would be named by the Congressional central committee.

The possibility exists that two elections and two primaries may be necessary.

It is the first time a number of the

When bigger and better musical comedies are produced it 'probably will be Flo Ziegfeld in command. 'After a long siege on Broadway-or, rather, Forty-second street—the Old Master moved "Rosalie" southward to the National theater, opening last night to standing room only, or thereabouts.

tional theater, opening last night to standing room only, or thereabouts. If there was ever any doubt why "Rosalle" had such a vogue; why it ran for almost two solid seasons in the metropolis; why lines were formed to the right and left, to purchase tickets for the engagement here, all such wonderings must now be dispelled. Having seen it in its original setting, and again here, the verdict is "Rosalle" is just as good as ever, if not better. The change of locale hasn't hurt a bit.

When the concotors of this musical comedy—and there were enough cooks to spoil the broth, but they didn't—got their heads together, with the Master Maglelan in the background, they fastened upon an idea quite in keeping with the American mood; a satire upon the visit of a foreign potentate to the Land of Plenty. There was romance in the air, then, and now!—and "Rosalie" comes as the quintessence of American musical comedy, for it has real music and natural comedy, pitted together in an Old-New World background, with the Kingdom of Romanza on one end and West Point, the Millary Academy, on the other. All of this, of course, lends uniforms and atmosphere, glamour and color. These things, though, are mere by the settings. It happens that one Marilyn Miller and another Jack Donahue—Mrs. Donahue's son—are coupled in the running—to use a race-track term.

It is a undoubtedly a fact that the same a cursory review that has not one word of damnation in it. More productions like "Rosalie" and the anyet, what's a cursory review that has not one word of damnation in it. More productions like "Rosalie" and the anyet the would be at hand.

It is undoubtedly a fact that Miss diller is the established queen of erpsichore in the realm of musical comedy—she proves this by a lovely too lance at the end—and that Jack Donadance at the end—and that Jack Donahuo is the representative American

It must have been that the boys and girls were getting tired of the old haunts—the stage of the New Amsterdam, for, out on the road, the show has taken on what seems new life—though it never, at any stage, could have been called dull. Not while it has such excellenties in the cast, if excellenties is the word. There is, for instance, that dynamic little person, Bobbe Arnst. last seen here with Lemaire's Affairs. Frank Morgan is a dumbbell king, and, and, well, there are so many people and events—notably the drill of the West Point Cadets, and a beautiful ballet toward the close of the show—that they can not all be mentioned in a cursory review; a cursory review that has not one word of damnation in it. ANOTHER PLOT HATCHING.

The French government was taken by surprise when Lord Cushendun, British foreign secretary, dumped overboard the Anglo-French "compromise" as a result of the furious protest of the British public. That "compromise" included withdrawal of the British government's obection to the French conscription plan, which insures French military supremacy in Europe. The advantage gained by Great Britain in the bargain was French support of the British plan to build an unlimited number of small cruisers, while interposing the united opposition of the two governments to the building of large cruisers by the United States. As this 'compromise," when offered to the United States, was seen to be a scheme for taking off all limitations upon the British navy and the French army, it was of course rejected by the United States as the basis of a limitation conference.

In some quarters it is held that the compromise still holds good as between Britain and France, notwithstanding the failure of the attempt to overreach the United States. Frenchmen are beginning to ask whether Britain's agreement to withdraw opposition to a big French army is worth more than a scrap of paper. As the agreement, however, was contingent upon acceptance by the United States and other powers, the British spokesmen can say with truth that it is now only a scrap of paper. Prime Minister Baldwin has manfully performed the highly disagreeable task of burying the corpse in the House of Commons.

The New York Herald Tribune's Geneva correspondent now reports that France has changed its delegate to the League of Nations and is beginning conversations with Great Britain with a view to obtaining the support of both England and the United States for the French army expansion scheme, in return for certain naval concessions from England. France, with the consent of England, will make overtures to the United States, hoping to induce the United States to give its consent to the unlimited expansion of the French army as the price for obtaining such concessions from Great Britain as will permit the United States to build the kind of cruisers it needs.

"As to just what concessions England is willing to offer," reports the correspondent, "observers are vague, but most of them admit that those terms will, despite French hopes, probably not be welcomed on the Potomac."

No terms within the scope of any scheme for the increase of armaments will be welcomed on the Potomac. No agreement by the United States for the augmentation of the French army or the British navy will ever be made, as such an agreement, made in the name of limitation, would be a lie on its face. Great Britain and France may make whatever bargains they please, but they can not expect the United States to become a party to a bargain that defrauds the world by pretending to reduce armaments while actually increasing them. The American people are sick and tired of the incessant efforts of European plotters to juggle the arms limitation movement so that armies and navies shall be larger instead of smaller.

Whenever the people of Europe take matters into their own hands and compel their representatives to deal honestly with arms limitations they will find the people of the United States ready to cooperate. In the meantime, with the leading navies increasing in strength and with European "statesmen" plotting in such a manner as to invite war rather than peace, the United States will take tare that its naval defenses are sufficient and commerce in case Europe blunders into another war.

LET THE TRUTH COME OUT.

An international code providing more stringent regulations for safety of life at sea will be sponsored by an American delegation at a conference of maritime powers of the world to be held in London next April. The participation of the United States Government is expected. The President has asked Congress for $100,000 to meet the expenses of the delegation and the fund should be forthcoming, especially in view of the recent oceanic disaster.

Sinking of the Vestris will undoubtedly stimulate greater interest in this effort to raise safety standards on the sea. Although there has been some complaint on the part of British shipping interests that present safety require ments are unnecessarily severe, the recent disaster is expected to preclude any such plea at the conference. The tendency will likely be in the opposite direction, with resultant higher standards in ship construction, safety devices, such as wireless and fire extinguishers, ice patrol and ship inspection.

It is of great importance that the detailed facts concerning the sinking of the Vestris be brought out in the present investigations because of the influence this information may have on delegates to the conference and on general public sentiment. Efforts to bring out the truth are not a mere matter of fairness to the captain, who is beyond censure or blame They may have a direct bearing on future safety on the sea.

United States Attorney Tuttle is having considerable difficulty in securing from the witnesses a straightforward account of the disaster, especially with regard to the messages sent out for aid. At the opening of the investigation Mr. Tuttle announced that confidential reports reaching him made it necessary to announce that any one who attempted to prevent witnesses from telling the whole truth would be severely dealt with. Under cross-examination Charles Veschere, wireless operator, admitted that he had previously told Tuttle of a message reading, "We may need aid." He excused himself for not testifying in regard to such a message on the witness stand by saying, "I forgot." It is evident that a mistake was made in not completely isolating the witnesses from all possible influence between the time of the rescue and the inquiry. The public is entitled to know the truth regarding the disaster, the extent of negligence involved and who was responsible for the neglect.

WILLIAM A. OLDFIELD.

The death of Representative William A. Oldfield removes from Congress one of its outstanding figures. For eight years he served as Democratic whip of the House, and for the last four years he had been chairman of the Democratic congressional committee. twenty years he had been a distinguished figure in the halls of the Capitol, honestly and fearlessly serving his constituency and the Nation. On Saturday, Mr. Oldfield underwent an operation for an abdominal complaint and failed to rally. Early yesterday afternoon he died.

Mr. Oldfield was one of the upstanding characters that so frequently the American people send to Congress, secure in the knowledge that they always will be found championing the causes they believe to be right. Equivocation and compromise were not in his nature. Party loyalty was his byword. Through peaceful and stormy years he represented the people of his district of Arkansas, defending their interests and standing resolutely against the forces that he believed sought to break down the Constitution, or turn government to their

The United States Supreme Court has granted the petition of the Government to relew the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit in the Rosika Schwimmer case. This alien was denied naturalization by a judge who found that she could not take the oath of allegiance without reservation. She failed to convince him that she filled the requirement of the law, which calls for satisfactory proof that the applicant for citizenship is "attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same."

The circuit court reversed this decision and ordered the alien admitted to citizenship, holding that the personal opinion of the alien on the subject of citizens bearing arms in defense of the United States did not constitute a statutory ground for denying her petition.

The court of last resort will now consider whether an alien who is unalterably opposed to the bearing of arms by any citizen in defense of the country is actually attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same.

GAS PLANT VALUATION.

Until next Monday the hearings upon the valuation of the Washington Gas Light Co. stand adjourned. The company has completed its case. One by one its experts have testified as to the value of the property, and each witness has boosted his figure higher than his predecessors. Present gas rates are based on a valuation slightly in excess of $17,000,000. Ralph O. Luqueer, valuation engineer, testifying for the company, caused widespread surprise when he testified that the figure was too low by about $10,000,000. Then came William V. Burnell, who said that the figure should be $29,750,000, and finally Alton S. Miller named $34,000,000 as the minimum at which the commission should value the company for ratemaking purposes.

Rates are based on valuation. The higher the value the company is permitted to place on its properties, the higher the rate it can charge for gas. Washington gas rates are not low as compared with those in other cities. If a new and higher valuation is granted the company, gas rates will go still higher.

It is probable that the company has chosen to fight to obtain the Luqueer figure, roughly $27,000,000, and has introduced the higher figures of other so-called experts in an attempt to make the Luqueer figure appear fair and | political boomerang.

to compel respect for American rights | reasonable by contrast. But it has overplayed its hand. As expert succeeded expert upon the stand, each casually adding a million or two to the valuation figure, the figures became absurd.

Next Monday the hearing will be resumed and Byers McK. Bachman, chief accountant of the Public Utilities Commission, will be the first witness. Through his testimony, People's Counsel Ralph B. Fleharty will begin the presentation of the public's side of the case, controverting the figures offered by the company's witnesses. Mr. Bachman has been studying the books of the gas company for more than a year, concerning himself particularly with the historic value of the properties. The figure he will present, probably in the neighborhood of $13,000,000, represents what the company actually paid for its property, equipment and the development of its business

TRAINING COUNTRY POLICE.

In New York State there has been in augurated a program that bids fair to make the joke-book country constable a forgotten memory. New York City's police training school is playing host this week to fourteen selected police officers representing ten of the smaller cities of the State. . These men will hear lectures covering such subjects as traffic control, obtaining and holding evidence, when to make an arrest and other fundamentals of police routine, and when they have completed the condensed but comprehensive course they are expected to return to their communities to open police training schools. In these schools members of their own force will be trained, as well as police officers in the surrounding

In these days of organized, big business crime there is no less need for uniformity in police methods than there is for uniformity in the criminal code. For several years associations and organizations have been working toward the latter end. The New York State program, however, marks the first comprehensive attempt to bring about uniformity in police procedure. It will be watched with interest everywhere.

The State-wide police training plan sponsored by the chiefs of police of New York cities, the New York State conference of mayors and the bureau of social hygiene, the board of directors of which consists of John D. Rockefeller; jr.; Arthur Woods, former police com missioner of New York City; Raymond B. Fosdick, Winthrop W. Aldrich and John D. Rockefeller 3d. The two main purposes of the undertaking are to give every policeman in the State a sound training in fundamentals comparable to the instruction given in New York City and to develop among the various communities the cooperative action made necessary by fast transportation and modern criminal tactics. A uniform State traffic code is one of the concrete results hoped for.

Theoretically, the State-wide police training plan promises to assist materially in the prosecution of society's war against crimedom. If it works well in practice other jurisdictions will organize similar schools, several New England States, New Jersey and Michigan already having applied for detailed information regarding the plan. Ultimately, there seems to be no reason why a program of untform police training should not be extended to a national basis.

A POLITICAL BOOMERANG.

A parliamentary measure that proposes to relieve agriculture of all its local taxes, as well as industrial plants from three-quarters of their taxes, would seem to be an excellent electioneering asset for the political party that proposed it. So, at all events, thought the existing administration in Britain when it introduced a local government bill, embodying those features, as the most important proposal to be enacted into law during the present session of parliament-a session which is to be the last before the general election of next year. The local government bill was meant to he the great hait with which the Raldwin ad. ministration would angle for the support of the British voters. The calculations, however, appear to have gone awry. In the first place, the bill, which is meant to give effect to the administration's scheme of tax reform, as first outlined by Winston Churchill in his budget speech last April, is extremely complicated, especially in its vital financial clauses. It is, therefore, testing the ingenuity of members of the house of commons as they endeavor to puzzle out how it will affect their own constituencies. Mr. Lloyd George has characterized it as "a blend of algebra, trigonometry, Einstein's curves, vulgar fractions, and a bad nightmare.'

In the second place, the bill has brought into the open a most determined foe from within the ranks of the very supporters of the administration which has put it forward. Sir Walter Preston, who was returned last September as a Conservative by a large majority at a by-election in Cheltenham, Gloucestershire, won his seat mainly on the explicit assurance, which he gave, that the local government scheme to be propounded by the administration would directly benefit Cheltenham taxpayers. It now turns out, however, that, far from conferring the anticipated benefit, the scheme will actually add to the local taxation of Cheltenham. This untoward result is based on cal culations which the experts of the administration are unable to controvert. Sir Walter Preston has accordingly proclaimed publicly that he was elected "under false pretenses," and has signified his intention of not supporting his own party's principal bill.

Nor do the denunciations end there. Scores of protests are pouring in from other towns all over the country, whose citizens are fearful of the incidence of local taxation under the proposed measure. The newspaper press has also taken up the cry. The Daily Mail, ordinarily a supporter of the administration, gives the following warning:

To make an election asset of a bill which provokes this widespread anxiety and distrust is a serious error in tactics. which has already greatly injured the Conservative party. If it is not scrapped, the ministers will lose the support of hun-dreds of thousands of middle-class voters, and suffer heavily in the residential districts which they have hitherto, with some reason, considered their stronghold.

It would seem that the much heralded local government bill, if persevered with and not redrafted, is likely enough to prove to be

This belief was logical and just in ancient times when education was begun by private tutors and completed by means of travel. The gentlaman or his sire paid the bill—the whole of it—and deserved the whole of the benefit. It was a private transaction.

DU PONT'S COMPANY TO CUT HUGE 'MELON

Dividends and Stock Split-Up Mean Total Disbursement of $20,380,000.

LINKS GENERAL MOTORS

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 19 (A.P.) .-After declaring the regular quarterly dividend of $2.50 a share and an extra dividend of $4.75, or a total of $7.25 a rectors of E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & share on the common stock, the directors of E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc., today decided to split up the stock on a basis of 8½ to 1, if the shareholders approve.

The dividend declarations on the common stock will mean a total disbursement of $20,380,000.

Of the extra dividend of $4.75, it was announced that $3.55 represents the distribution of General Motors' recent extra dividend of $2.50 a share on the stock held by the Du Pont company.

A special meeting of the Du Pont stockholders has been called for December 14 when the shareholders will be asked to readjust the capital stock by changing the authorized common stock from 5,000,000 shares of no par value to 15,000,000 shares of $20 per share par value.

The outstanding stock of the Du Pont company amounts to 2,661,658 shares, which with the 149,392 now in the course of issuance in connection with the recently announced merger of the Grasselli Chemical Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, makes a total of 2,811,050 shares that will be exchanged for the new stock.

A statement of the Du Pont company today said that if the recently announced plan to split General Motors shares two-and-a-half to one is approved, and Du Pont shall issue three-and-a-half for one, Du Pont will then hold approximately one share of General Motors for each of its own shares outstanding, this changing the relationship between Du Pont's General Motors holdings and its own common stock from the present ratio of about one-and-a-half to one to that of approximately share for share.

In addition to the common stock declarations, the directors also declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on the company's debenture stock.

the regular quarterly dividend of 11/2 per cent on the company's debenture was announced that T. S. Gras-It was announced that T. S. Grasselli, of the Grasselli Chemical Co., had been elected a member of the Du Pont been elected a member of the Dr Port board of directors. A report early in the day from the company that the board had been increased by two mem-bers, was announced later to have been incorrect.

> Make The "King of Fowl" An Easy Job for The Queen of Cooks!

THE Thanksgiving turkey's trip to the holiday table is fraught with no anxiety for the housewife whose husband has thoughtfully provided an Electric Range.

Cooked electrically, your turkey will be uniformly done to just that turn at which you find it most delicious. There will be more of it to serve, as Electric Cookery reduces shrinkage to a degree far lower than any other cooking method. The reason: "Flameless fuel" that permeates every particle of the food it cooks!

An Electric Range also brings automatic, exact, accurate temperature control to cook food at the exact heat your recipe calls for.

There is still time to see your neighborhood Electric Shop and have that Electric Range installed for Thanksgiving. Or phone here today for information on the special low rates for cooking

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Nov. 19.—Its heartbreaking pace of last week plainly having sapped a good deal of its energy, the stock market underwent something of a revision in trading as the new week on the New York Stock Exchange got under way today. The irregularity which showed its head on Saturday became decidedly more pronounced and the volume of dealings fell appreciably, aithough the turnover crossed the 5.000,000-share level for the seventh time in history.

There was liberal realizing selling throughout the day and the unprecedented general forward movement which had its inception in the election of Herbert Hoover was halted, but the ease with which the heavy offerings were absorbed clearly indicated that the recession was merely a corrective, the natural consequence of the record trading and sweeping advances of last week.

No break occurred in any section of the list, nor was there any dumping of shares on the market. Indeed, while at the close losses slightly outnumbered gains, they were, with a handful of exceptions, limited to a point or so, and net gains were considerably more substantial with about two score showing advances of from 3 to 7 points and Case Threshing 19¼ points up at a new

Money Remains Easy.

Money Remains Easy.

Money was hardly a factor, ruling asy throughout the day at 6½ per easy throughout the day at 6½ per cent.

Split-up in the Du Pont common stock was expected in view of the recent recapitalization of General Motors. Last year Du Pont did not follow the General Motors split-up, so that this time the company had two steps to climb, in accordance with its policy of duplicating action by General Motors. The 2½-for-1 General Motors split increased Du Pont's holdings to 9,981,220 shares. Since the 3½-for-1 split-up of Du Pont proposed by the directors today will increase Du Pont stock to 9,838,675 shares, including increase for Grasselli Chemical purchase, the old ratio of 1½ of General Motors for each Du Pont will be lowered to virtually one for one.

Kennecott did much to rally the group with its higher dividend, but this had been forecast and, once a movement got under way, Anaconda proved to be the leader. On its earnings Anaconda has been entitled to a rise and a higher dividend doubtless will be paid. A fillip has been given to the stock by the uprush in stocks largely owned by it. Andes Copper and Greene Cananes, for instance, have enjoyed substantial advances.

Fisher Bros. Reported Sold Out.

Fisher Bros. Reported Sold Out.

One of the news tickers announced that the Fisher Brothers had sold out the remainder of their 300,000 shares of Radio. It has been common knowledge that the Fishers took a big profit on a good part of their Radio stock, but whether they have sailed clear of the company is not so certain. That was one of the companies which some in Wall street believed the Fishers were in to stay, although the practice of selling part to pay for the other part is common among investors.

Virtually the whole foreign exchange market was buoyant, with sterling rising above $4.85 for the first time in many weeks. It finished 1-16 higher. The day's outstanding, feature, however, was an upturn in Canadian dollars to a premium of 3-64s of 1 per cent, the first premium of 3-64s of 1 per cent, the first premium of this magnitude this season. It appears that the Montreal rate is now started on its seasonal rise to the gold point, tardy this year largely because of high money rates here.

France improved fractionally and Norwegian and Danish rates rose 1½ points, but lire eased slightly after early strength. Far Eastern and South American rates were little changed.

The Outstanding Depreciations.

The outstanding depreciations were $7\frac{1}{2}$ points on Indian Refining preferrand. 7 points in American Express, 5\frac{1}{2}$ points in IRT and 4\frac{1}{2}$ in Allied Chemical.

The slow down in trading on the reaction, although the turnover still was enormous by comparison with what recently was regarded as a normally active day, was, as usual, regarded as a buil point.

In addition to the fact there was no great press to sell and that sentiment in the main continued buillish, the market had other good points. The copper shares as a group looked buoyant all day; some of the oils also were particularly well taken and there were many sizeable gains scattered among both the rails and industrials.

The carrier shares were not especially influenced by the reported intention of seeking action on enabling merger legislation at the forthcoming and the continuation of the continuati merger legislation at the forthcoming session of Congress, and New Haven was outstanding on the up side, selling above 70 for the first time since 1916 and finishing 1½ points to the good.

Prices generally were at their lowest late in the morning and subsequently the list showed frequent rallying tendencies of considerable force and in the last hour there was marked improvement in many directions.

At the bottom Radio was at 295, compared with a previous closing level of 301½. In the late dealings this issue was appearing in large blocks, with jumps of several points between sales until it reached a fresh zenith, 335. It closed 3½ points under the best.

BONDS REACT UNDER PROFIT-TAKING WAVE

Many Issues, However, Hold Early Gains; Copper Group Leads Upward.

SOME OILS ARE STRONG

New York, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Prices worked irregularly higher in the bond market today As in the stock market, waves of profit taking caused recessions, but many issues, particularly in the rail and industrial groups, held their early gains. Several convertibles established new high prices in sympathy with the strength of their respective stocks. Trading was comparatively light, total sales being just under $9,000,000.

Coppers came into the foreground again as copper company stocks advanced. Anaconda 7s moved up about 7 points to a new high, at 174, and Andes 7s gained about a point. Chile Copper 5s were traded at Saturday's prices, while Tennessee Copper 6s sold off fractionally.

Several oils showed renewed strength. New York, Nov. 19 (A.P.) .- Prices

The scene of local banking-interest entirons of lower Fifteenth street, known as the Washington financial district, to the interior of Poli's Playhouse, where the Washington Chapter, American In-stitute of Banking, opened the winter acason with its annual theater party.

Prominent Washington bankers, repre-centative alumni of the institute, and Virtually the entire membership of the local chapter and friends, made up the addlence of nearly 2,000 which thrilled, or similed, as "The Silent House" unfolded its weird tale of mystery and puriodrams.

Halled by its sponsors as one of the most successful events of its kind in the annals of the institute, it was predicted the proceeds from the annual benefit will be sufficient to provide a substantial contribution to the needs of the growing chapter during the ensuing year. of the growing chapter during the ensuing year. Returns from tickets sold are not yet completed.

The chapter varied somewhat from its accustomed procedure last night, in that no speakers went sent to the stage between acts, as in past years, to outline the objects of the institute, award prizes for tickets sold, or divert interest in any way from the main attraction. The committee whose efforts carried the event to last night's successful conclusion was headed by Alfred W. Sherman, of the American Security & Trust Co., while dimnes A. Soper, of the Lincoln National Bank, president of the chapter, closely collaborated. Assisting were I. J. Roberts, of Riggs National Bank, past president of the chapter; T. Hunton Leith, of Security Savings & Commercial, and R. Jesse Chaney, of Commercial National. Richard Norris and his board of consuls cooperated in the sale of tickets.

Metropolitan Chain Stores crossed 73 to a new high record on reports that current sales and carnings of the new C madian Stores had greatly exceeded company expectations. American Stores and Sidney Blumenthal also moved up to new tops but Neisner, Safeway (new) and some of the others were heavy. Radio shares displayed a strong undertone. Hazeltine and Freshman moved in to new high ground and De Forest advanced 2 points on a large turnover.

Raybestos ran up nearly 10 points to a new high at 73% and closed just below the top. Other industrials to anew high at 73% and closed just below the top. Other industrials to move into new high ground included American Solvents & Chemical prior preferred, Federated Metals, Horinel, International Harvester (new), Marinon and Stutz Motors, Massey Harris, New York Auction A, and Walgreen. Radio-Keith-Orpheum, which is sponsored by the same interests as Radio Corporation, climbed nearly 3 points to a new high at 38, with buying influenced by predictions of large profits from its new low levels for the year. Due to its central location the building is easily accessible to the city's principal transportation facilities.

Property: The building, completed in 1921, is a modern sixteen story office and display room structure of granite, limestone, concrete, steel and brick fireproof construction and because of its exceptional location facing on three thoroughfares, was so designed as to afford maximum natural light and ventilation. This insurance for the full amount of this loan and rest or rental value insurance will be carried, payable to the Trustoc. Adequate fire and other usual building insurances will also be carried as provided in the Mortgage.

Colonials, C. U. Preparing For Thanksgiving Day Clash

Favoritism of Cardinals Worrying Coaches, Who Point to Last Year's Dope Upset; Carey Lost to G. W.

A LITTLE anxiety is being expressed out at Catholic University by Coach Jack McAuliffe and his able assistant, Eddie La Fond, who are somewhat concerned over the approaching Thanksgiving Day game with George Washington, which will bring the local collegiate football season to an end an end.

The two Cardinal strategists are not particularly worried because they fear the strength of George Washington, but because their team will go into the game the favorites. As each team will consider its season a great success if it scores a victory next Thursday, the Catholic University coaches would scorer be entering the game the "unsooner be entering the game the "un-der dogs."

of six previous scoreless deteats previous to last Saturday's victory over American U.

Catholic University will gain considerable consolation from the fact that Jack Malevitch, its defensive ace and a smashing full back, will be ready for the Colonials. Malevitch two weeks ago attempted to get back into a uniform, but the strain of putting all his weight on his injured ankle when he attempted to kick the ball taught him that it would be wiser to give his splentered ankle rest. He will be worked lightly up until the day of the game, taking the chance th the can step in and swing into his old stride without the preliminary hard work.

Should Malevitch be unable to play the entire game, Healy, who has taken his place since the William and Mary game on October 29, and who has been improving with each game, will get the call.

Coach "Maude" Crum, of George Washington University, who has been heset with troubles and who has had his most difficult year at the Colonial school, suffered one of his hardest blows yesterday, when Jimmy Carey, his regular center and most versatile player, was called to his home in West Virginia by the death of his younger brother.

Carey may or may not return in time for the Thanksgiving game.

Crum is planning to use "Rucko" Clements in Carey's place, but Clements can not begin to make up for the absence of his most brilliant star. Carey, although one of the lightest men on the team, has been the spark which has kept the spirit of the squad up through one of its most disastrous seasons.

At the beginning of the year, he took his place at one of the end positions. A couple of weeks later, when the Colonial back field was disrupted, he stepped in and played in a back field role and a game or two later he was seen at center, where he has played regularly since. The shifting of Clements to center leaves one less man for the back field, as Clements was being groomed for a regular ball carrier's job. groomed for a regular ball carrier's job Only five back field men are now avail-

The Colonials, though they won their first game of the season Saturday against American University, were sent through a stiff workout yesterday. The team showed many glaring weaknesses in the game last Saturday, despite its victory.

The realization that Catholic University is the decided favorite and has scored three victories to one for the Colonials, in addition to 86 more points, has made the George Washington students none too confident of a victory.

Washington and Lee, in the first meeting in 1924, in a game played at Central High School tSadium here, won by 19 to 7 for the most decisive victors of the four bettles. by 19 to 7 for the most decisive vic-tory of the four battles. Next year, at College Park, the Generals won, 7 to 3, on a touchdown in the last minute of play. First Game Between 2 Such Heavy, Fast Teams in Years.

Little Believes Strong Alone May Kill Title Hopes of Carnegie.

A S bruising a football battle as any in the last decade, a near throwhich the back to the olden days of the figing wedge when a broken limb was just a broken limb, is the manner in which Coach Lou Little of Georgetown characterizes the game next Saturday between Carnegle Tech and New York University at Pittsburgh.

Coach Little is qualified to speak on the merits of the two teams, whose game may settle definitely the championship of the East and mean much toward the disposition of national honors, besides clinching for one, or possibly two, players an undeniable place in the all-American back field.

Little's own Georgetown team was one of the victims of Carnegie's thus far uninterrupted rush toward every football honor in existence a week after the Hilltoppers had handed New York its only defeat of the season and Little has had the opportunity to observe first-hand the merits of the respective teams. They have no demerits, he declares. Coincidentally, he picks New York as the winner in defiance of the comparative records.

"It's been years since two such heavy, bone-crushing combinations like New York U. and Carnegie Tech have come together with much at stake," Little declared. "Both are the kind of teams that coaches turn out once in tenn years, and fast despite their weight. When Ken Strong and Howard Harpster start running against each other it will be a pretty sight.

"I can't help thinking, however, that New York U, will win despite that awful beating Carnegie handed Notre Dame. In meeting New York U, Carnegie will be up against the same situation that faced Georgetown in the Carnegie game—that is, two hard games in two weeks, which certainly did us no good and a lot of harm.

"Ken Strong is liable to upset Carnegie's hopes all by himself," Little declared, waxing enthusiastic over the New York star. "Carnegie has never faced a back like Strong and will be hard put to stop him from running wild. Strong opened the throttle a couple of times last Saturday against Missouri and ran 87 yards on one occasion and 50 on another."

Though Carnegie Tech has a pow-

Though Carnegie Tech has a pow-erful line and a mixture of heavy and light backs in Karcis, 220-pound full back, Finnnagan, Eyth, Harpster and Rosenszweig, an end who carries the ball considerably, Little concedes New York the stronger team.

HOT TODDY SCORES BY NECK IN FEATURE AT BOWIE

Shasta Klan Worn Down In Drive

Sea Bright Triumphs Easily in Secondary Attraction.

Bad Jam Out of Stalls Mars Third Race, Won by Deronda.

Breelal to The Washington Post.

B While there was no particular feature down for decision at Bowie this afternoon it was an interesting day of sport that came out of the program even though the platers predominated. The weather was still unseasonably warm and there were some showers of rain while a high wind swept over the course most of the afternoon.

The race that held the feature posttion on the program was the Old Virginia Purse of a mile and a sixteenth for 3-year-olds, and it resulted in for 3-year-olds, and it resulted in a victory for Mrs. K. E. Hitt's Hot Toddy, when he led home Thomas J. Watts' Shasta Kian and Mrs. A. C. Schwartz's filly, One Hour. Then in another number Mrs. Clyde Phillips' good juvenile Sea Bright, was a handy 7-furlong dash.

winner over rather a nice lot, in a 7-furlong dash.

The Old Virginia brought out a field of only five and from a good start it was Shasta Klan that jumped into the lead. E. Watters had Hot Toddy chasing after him and Sun Roman was running a close third while Schreiner was riding to orders as he watted with One Hour. Sour Mash had the Schwartz filly headed but only on sufferance.

in the run through the back stretch Schreiner made a move with One Hour and she moved up strongly on the inside but could not come through and Shasta Klan held to his lead, with Hot Toddy going strongly back of him.

Watters waited almost to the stretch before he made a serious move with Hot Toddy, but as he shook up the son of Ed Crump he readily went to the leader, but there he had to battle along all the way home to be a winner by a neck. One Hour was at the heels of Shasta Klan while Sour Mash and Sun Roman were soundly beaten back of her.

Roman were soundly beaten back of her.

J. A. Weil proved best of the band of maiden 2-pear-olds that went to the post in the first race, a dash of five and a half furlongs. Breaking fast and clear of interference J. A. Weil quickly assumed command and after making all of his own pace beat Littite Captain out three lengths. Four lengths back of the latter came Highland Maid and another lengt away finished Sauce. The latter was a forward contender to the top of the home stretch. The break was none too good, the inside horses suffering from interference when the winner, J. A. Weil bore over on them.

Briar Broem was an easy winner in the second race. Breaking forwardly and in close pursuit of the pacemaker. Yesano, the first quarter, Brian Broom forged to the front in the run around the first turn and for the remainder of the trip he held his apposition safe, At the end he had a lead of a length over. Angry Mood why beat the Maple out a length and a half. Bird of Prey was responsible for the delay at the post, Calrone appeared unable to control his mount and Bird of Prey kept walking through the stalls. Ominous and Yesano, forward contenders, the first five furlongs, tailed off at the first five furlongs. first five furlongs, tailed off at the

The field broke aligned out of the The field broke aligned out of the stalls when the barrier was sprung in the third race, but the outside horses cut across the track and caused a masty jam for the horses on the inside and forcing their riders to pull up. Northland cut out the pace in the early stages and led until well around the far turn.

Entering the home stretch, Me-flovern brought beronda up on the outside and in the final fur-long took command to win going away at the end by a length and a half. Brahman was second, half a length in front of Northland, and then followed Fednma, it was followed Fedonna. It was not a truly run contest and some of those who may have been keen factors were eliminated before they had gone a sixteenth.

There were nine starters in the Munting Ridge Purse, a dash of seven furiongs for 2-year-olds, which was run as the fourth race. The Clyde Phillips Stable furnished the winner in Sea Bright, who went to the post a heavily played favorite. Sea Bright, ridden by A. Robertson, was outrun the first half mile, but in the stretch run took the lead. At the finish he was going easily and beat Annapolis a length and a half. The latter just managed to last long enough to stall off Fortune's Favorite's rush. The latter was second in another stride past the winning mark.

Earl Sande's 3-year-old colt, Star Gold, climaxed a notable day for favorites this afternoon when he won the seventh race on the program, a mile and a suxteenth claiming affair, from Frances Rock and John Peel, the latter a 67-to-1 shot.

Rock and John Peel, the latter a 67-to-1 shot, Despite his one-length margin over Frances Rock at the finish, Star Gold won with comparative case. Off first, he set the pace for the first quarter and then was taken back by E. Benham, who permitted Tillie to go to the front. Entering the stretch, Star Gold responded to urging and assumed the lead again, with Frances Rock next in pursuit. The winner outlasted Frances Rock and John Peel came from far back to beat out Just in Fun for third money.

A forward contender all the way, Iraq won the sixth race at a mile and an eighth, beating Czarist a scant head, with Horloge three lengths farther back. Red Pate, the favorite, was off slowly and could not become untracked, cutting no figure in the running. Iraq was nearly a 7-to-1 shot.

JUDGE MURPHY, away slowly, was sent into contention near haif-mile ground, bore out badly on stretch turn, but easily held opposition safe when straightened out. SWEEPSORA also were wide on atteich turn, and tired thereafter. Two BILLS closed a good gap after a poor send-off. PRINCE BULBO raced evenly.

OLLYER'S COMMENT

M UD LARKS. Clyde Van Dusen's prayer was answered so he dropped LITTLE TORCH in the second spasm at Lexington today. Here's a mud-running fool by Torch Bearer, and the lads who have been running up and down Main street, wondering where their next meal was coming from are all smiles.

Main street, wondering where their next meal was coming from, are all smiles.

From the same source, I have the word that DAR FUR goes for the coonskins in the opening spasm. BLUE GRANITE is also at home in the mud, but is asked to concede DAR FUR five pounds.

BROWN BETTINA was never in a better spot than she is in the third and the distance should help her on to brackets. She has been knocking at the door for some time now. PANWAS and HAPPY HANLY for what is left.

WEIGHT HUGE HANDICAP TO BOZEK

Too Light to Start Game and Take Battering, Says Little.

JOHNNY BOZEK, the much talked of member of the Georgetown University Pootball Team, does not seem destined to break into the regular line-up. Or better stated, Bozek's chances of breaking into the starting line-up are remote unless the former Gonzaga star adds 15 to 20 pounds to his present weight in the next two years.

"I think we are using Bozek in the right way." Lou Little, head coach, declared yesterday. "He is too light to be stuck in there at the start. We have used him after the game is well under way and the opposing players are tired and thus, being fresh, Bozek has been showing to fine advantage."

While it is true that Bozek, who weighs around 140 pounds, would soon show the effects of continual playing against such heav" bone-crushing teams as New Yo. University and Carnegle Tech, he can also withstand more battering and hard tackling than many are wont to believe.

The Restless Waistline and the Animated Hem Are Noted.

N EW YORK. — Silhouettes have gone to extremes and waistlines having fluctuated, one welcomes the report that the newer French models are inclined toward a certain conservatism. Save in picturesque evening types that recognize no law excepting to be picturesque, wastlines seem content to rest at the top of the hips. Hems, too, weary of dipping and swirling about, have more or less settled to the even tenor of other days. One must admit that the daytime dress is less inclined to be even than former-

With the southern exodus almost at hand, one finds less interest in sports clothes than is usually the case. The so-called men's neckwear silks, a feature of the Paris openings continue, of course, to be wanted. Curiously enough they are not confined to sports types. The sports types of greatest interest are those which are highly colored. While reds, blues and to a lesser extent greens, are discussed as Palm Beach possibilities, largely because of their current success, there is no one color or range of color which may be presented as the Palm Beach color. There is every expectation of blue being a general favorite, however.

Princess silhouettes are having difficulty in establishing themselves. The younger set has acquired the habit of accenting waistlines and is not adverse to raising them. One might hazard a guess that the formula may be no waistline at all, or a raised one.

Norman Hartnell is among those who approve the raised line although he adroitly arranges draperies or some decorative feature to offset undue prominence to this point.

Vanilla and egg shell are two of the off-white shades invaluable for playing up the sunbrowned skin—s social asset according to present standards.

Variety is given the theme of spiral tiers in the reproduction sketches. Moire yelvet in red is the medium favored for the dress whose long bodice lines are effectively broken by an insert of self fabrie.

Radio Commissioners Hold Poor Reception Complained Of Is Due to Improper Antenna, Sets or Old Receivers.

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

Announcing that an investigation was under way as a result of the complaints received from Washington Post readers regarding poor radio reception over WRC under the new arrangement of the wave lengths, Radio Commissioner O. H. Caldwell, in charge of this zone, said yesterday he believed the local trouble came from persons having was under way as a result of the comlocal trouble came from persons having improperly arranged antenna or crystal sets or other earlier models of receivers. It was said that Station WRC had received 1,000 telephone calls in a single day from listeners complaining that they couldn't get the station as well as before. Also that the station's mail had brought in between 200 and 300 letters.

Commissioner Caldwell expressed regret that the National Capital was proving one of the few trouble apots.

"Reports reaching the Radio Commission from all over the country show a very gratifying improvement." Mr. Caldwell went on. "This seems to be the unanimous opinion from all regions with one or two exceptions. One is in Baltimore, where a 60-kilocycle separation between two local stations is causing cross-talk in old-fashioned receivers. This separation should be ample because two of the most powerful stations in the country—WEAF and WJZ—are only separated by 50 kilocycles and no trouble has been reported there. reported there.

Conduct and Common Sense

By ANNE SINGLETON= WHAT MAY A GIRL DO?

DEAR Anne Singleton: Please give me some advice. I am a college girl, too, like the one you wrote about last week. I and my roommates have discussions all the time about the Boys, and all boys stand for, seem so much more important at this stage than any other, and when a lot of girls are shut up together they naturally think what fun they could have if they were only allowed to go about to dances and dinners in nice restaurants, and to country clubs, and to movies with men. Some of these things we do, but some are out of bounds. And if we are caught out of bounds, we might as well be caught for more fun than that, don't you think? Boys are freer. Don't you think we might have more experiences than we do and be none the worse? I mean real experiences.

worse? I mean real experiences.

I'm not sure, my dear, just how much you mean by "real ex-eriences." Every girl in the world, generally speaking, wants to attract boys. Every boy in the world, generally speaking, likes being attracted. A few years ago, ladies did not behave like housemaids. If they filtrad (and, of course, they did), it had the charm, at least, of a furtive lightness and secrecy. They didn't settle down to "petting parties" in company.

settle down to "petting parties" in company.

If you want experiences—and don't be afraid life won't bring tham to you —choose the worth-while ones. Don't pay too dearly for a poor whistle. Don't cheapen anything that should be disnified by real feeling. Don't, through mere curiosity, start upon any road that you don't know how to travel, stir up any emotion that you can't manage—in yourself or anybody else. Anything you want in this world you may have if you are willing to pay the price and stick by your bargain. This is the best test of what you may do. Is it worth paying for?

Prices realized on Swift & Co. sales of carcas beef in Washington, D. C., for the week ending Saturday, November 17, 1928, on shipments sold out ranged from 16.00 cents to 27.00 cents per pound, and averaged 22.07 cents per pound.—Adv.

SUGAR IMPROVES

Makes these healthful foods delightful to the taste

The human body needs fruits, to be well-fed and healthy, and each person should eat at least one raw and one cooked fruit each day. Here are the health-giving elements that fruits bring to us: needed roughage, fruit vitamines, mineral salts, and beneficial fruit acids.

And, thanks to sugar, fruits can also be beneficial in another way. The harsh or sour acids, by being sweetened to taste, can be turned into delightful flavors that add enjoyment to eating. As a famous food scientist states it, "The fruit acids are softened by sugar. The fruit flavors are developed by sugar. Sugar promotes and facilitates the ingestion of fruits."

There are few people in the

There are few people in the world who do not relish the delicious flavors of orange and grapefruit salad, sweetened to taste. One of the most welcome beverages to any palate is hot lemonade.

And remember that stewed fresh apples or pears or stewed dried peaches, prunes or apricots are excellent for breakfast. For dinner, think of apple sauce with pork, and cranberry sauce with any kind of roast fowl or meat. Baked apples or pears and fruit pies are delicious, as well as healthful, for dessert.

Eating should be enjoyable as well as healthful. The use of sugar, on raw fruits and in cooking, is the friend of food enjoyment. The Sugar Institute.

The fleet submarine V-4, largest, latest and only mine-laying submarine of the Navy, will visit Washington today, arriving at the navy yard this afternoon at 2 o'clock from Annapolis, Md., on its test cruise.

The vessel, built at Portsmouth, N. H., Navy Yard, was launched November 10, 1927, and commissioned April 2, 1928, being authorized in 1916.

Machinery for the undersea craft, which can dive more than 200 feet, was built by the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The vessel has a surface displacement of 2,878 tons and a surface speed of 17, knots.

Coming to the defense of the police Representative Gibson declared the force here had conditions to contend with different from those of other cities in their dealings with diplomats, members of Congress and other officials, as well as the public.

Disclaim Role of Investigator.

As a member of the District committee and chairman of the Gibson subcommittee conducting a survey of Washington, the Vermont representative disclaimed the role of "investigator." He declared the survey was being made to be helpful to the taxpayer and to the efficiency of the District government. He declared he was a friend of the National Capital and pointed to measures with which he has been connected dealing with the welfare of the city, citing his efforts in support of the bill creating the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, the five-year building program in the Mail area.

Mr. Gibson decried the lack of understanding between Washingtonians and members of Congress, and said he would like to see them closer together, since the city was being developed to represent "the soul of America."

Would Amend Law on Boxing.

Matthew O'Brien, speaking on legalized boxing in the District, declared the present law was too drastic and should be amended. The committee adopted his resolution that the Commissioners be given authority to make and enforce regulations governing all pugilistic contests and boxing bouts in the District. The committee was empowered by Odell S. Smith, chairman, to frame necessary regulations.

Another resolution, presented by Eliot Thomson, expressing confidence in the character, courtesy and efficiency of the Police Department, was adopted.

Claude W. Owen, in his report on the new trial board stated for the period from June 15 to September 14 the old board had 123 cases before it, while the new organization from September 15 to November 15, had only 64 cases. The police now realize, he said, that their jobs are at stake and they must "toe the mark." The morale of the department now is higher than it has been for a long time, he said.

Changes probably will be made in the new automatic traffic signal lights on Rhode Island avenue as a result of the criticism of the lights at four street intersections by Inspector E. W. Brown, of the Traffic Bureau.

Traffic Director William H. Harland yesterday said he will have a report on the question ready to submit to Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty this morning and that there would be no further disagreement between Brown and himself as to the efficacy of the lights. He said he could not go into details regarding his report before it has been presented to the District Commissioners.

A communication from Dr. W. C.
